STRUCK JEFF DAVIS

The Senator From Arkansas Assaulted on a Street car.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 23.—United States Senator Jeff Davis was assaulted on a street car in this city Saturday night, the result of which caused the senator to roll on the ground into the gutter.

His assailant was Col. George W. Murphy, former Attorney General, Jeff Davis' most bitter enemy, politically and personally.

The story told by bystanders is to the effect that Murphy was on a street car enroute home when Senator Davis stopped the car and started to board.

With a few words Colonel Murphy characterized the recent actions of the Senator as cowardly and proceeded to punch the senator with his walking cane.

Senator Davis lost his footing on the car and fell to the ground.

The speed of the car, which had become considerable by that time, caused Davis to roll to the sidewalk, say eye witnesses.

Davis was not badly injured, it is reported, but his expressions regarding his old time opponent in Arkansas politics cannot be printed.

When telephoned, Senator Davis failed to come to the phone to discuss the matter in any way whatever. He sent word that he was not struck; that Colonel Murphy did not call him a coward, and he did not roll the senatorial toga in the dirt of a Little Rock street.

The incident is the chief topic of conversation on the streets here.

Colonel Murphy is aged and infirm, almost tottering in his walk, and surprised was expressed at his determination to chastise the senator.

TO RE-ARREST BOOTLEGGERS

Topeka, Dec. 23.—"Every man loosed from the jails by the Governor under the act of the legislature authorizing him to extend a wholesale pardon to all men incarcerated or on bond, charged with a misdemeanor, who has been bound over or indicted for 'bootlegging,' will be re-arrested at the prison doors by the internal revenue collectors on the charge of violating Section 324A United States Revised Statutes. The section referred to makes the selling of whisky or other alcoholic or spirituous liquors, without having first obtained a government license, a felony punishable by a fine of from $100 to $500, or imprisonment of from 30 days to two years, or both."

This statement was made yesterday by Deputy Collector W. S. Irvin, of Muskogee, who was in the city yesterday, and who has charge of this portion of the state under the supervision of J. M. Simpson, of Leavenworth, Kansas.

This office has received from Mr. Fred S. Kelly one of the handsomest calendars of the season. The illustration represents "Genevieve" a reproduction from a famous French artist of Paris. He has given away 1000 of these beautiful Christmas offerings to his many friends and patrons in Vinita.

Misses Julia Taylor and Jessie Davis of the Chieftain force, will spend Christmas in Adair with relatives.

AN 85,000 BLAZE $150,000 FIRE

Gasoline Stove Starts Fire at Oklahoma University

Norman, Okla., Dec. 20.—Sweeping through corridors freshly coated with oil, as if fanned by a demon, and within four hours after classes had been dismissed for the Christmas holidays, fire caused by a gasoline stove explosion destroyed Administration hall of the University of Oklahoma this afternoon. Damage to the building and its contents is estimated at $85,000. The total insurance is $67,500.

Heroic work by the students of the University, members of the faculty and citizens of Norman saved the conflagration from spreading to Science hall and Carnegie library, valued at $150,000 and containing more than $200,000 worth of laboratory equipment and books. A stiff breeze from the southeast carried the endangered flames directly toward Science hall.

BABE BURNED TO A CRISP

Oklahoma City Ok., Dec. 22.—Her clothing igniting from a fire in the stove, the 7-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kehl, living near Carney, was fatally burned. Although her body was burned almost to a crisp, she lived several hours suffering the most terrible agony.

Fort Smith Visited by a Disasterous Conflagration.

Fort Smith, Ark., Dec. 23.—With a water pressure that would not reach the second story windows a fire swept the Haglin building and Ingeberg's book store on Main street at 1:55 o'clock yesterday morning, entailing a loss of $150,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

For awhile the entire business section of the city was threatened. The lives of three people, roomers in the Haglin building, were saved by fireman and Irving Almer. A fireman, was severely burned by coming in contact with a live wire.

The Haglin block, where the fire started was a six story building. The Southern Hotel and annex buildings were also slightly damaged by fire and water.

P. McVettie, a cotton buyer employed at the compress, who roomed in the Haglin building, is missing and is supposed to be in the ruins. Fireman Boehmer, the first man on the scene, says he saw a man appear on the second floor balcony and call for help and later fell back into the blazing building.

Miss Henryetta Patton, assistant Register of Deeds, of Craig County, goes to Boynton today to spend Christmas with her mother.

Miss Stella Roberts, who has been teaching at Narcissa, came home sick.
